

NATIONAL LABOR CONGRESS.

Third Days' Proceedings—The Subject of Co-operation Discussed—The Female Delegates Have a Say—A National Labor Political Party to be Formed—Report on Female Labor.

The National Labor Congress reassembled at the Germania Assembly Room yesterday morning shortly after ten o'clock. There was a full attendance of members. The Secretary read the minutes of last session, which were approved.

A discussion then took place on credentials. It appeared that a gentleman present without credentials, but on motion he was admitted to the Congress.

A report of the Committee on Co-operation, read yesterday was brought up for amendment. The report was strongly against contests between capital and labor, and a good deal of anxiety was felt by members to hear such an alteration made in it that it would not be construed into a condemnation of strikes. A discussion took place on the controversial points in the report, which speedily widened into a general debate on the relations between capital and labor.

Mr. ROSEVELT was in favor of strikes as the only means of bringing employers to terms. He believed that co-operation was a panacea for the most of evils that oppressed labor. The system of having money in the savings banks at only six per cent interest while there was plenty of work for small capitalists was severely condemned. Co-operative societies of workmen could build a better world, he thought, than the one that was now being built. He thought that the laborer having been found efficacious in the hands of workmen on strike against capital, the same would be found efficacious in the hands of women who would work like men.

Mrs. McDONALD rose to corroborate a statement made by Mr. Rosevelt in reference to co-operation. She said she knew something of the matter all over the world; that women worked ten hours a day while a contract for the government was being filled. Expense, delay, and many of them were cheated even out of that.

Mrs. SEAN ANTHONY on rising to speak found several members on the floor with her. She said that she wanted to be here, not as a privilege, but as a right. She thought that the gentlemen who objected to the report had been properly answered. She moved that the amendment proposed be put to the meeting, which was accordingly done and passed. Mrs. Anthony then made a long and eloquent impression and spoke at great length of the aid capital and labor. She said that while sympathizing with the cause of the workmen and wishing them success, she wished to see the laborer understood that the workmen of the country had no resting place for the soles of their feet.

Mr. FOLSOM, of Ohio, who is seventy years he was a slave owner. He defended the rights of labor when he owned four slaves.

Great many resolutions and amendments were proposed, but the report was on motion recommitted to the committee.

REPORT ON THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.
The committee to whom was referred the President's annual address beg leave to report that in their opinion his action for calling the July conference of the city was a most judicious and wise one. It has been productive of the most beneficial results to the producing classes. Further, we fully endorse the action of the committee on the President's address. We fully endorse the action of the committee on the President's address. We fully endorse the action of the committee on the President's address.

Resolved, That in the opinion of your committee the very essence of the National Labor Union depends upon the immediate organization of a national labor party, having for its object the election of representative men to Congress and national councils—those who are in direct sympathy and identification with the interests of labor.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. H. PHILIPS.
JOHN W. CAMERON.
JOHN W. CAMERON.

Mr. BOURKE took the floor and spoke in favor of some measure of practical utility, and threw a stream of rhetoric upon the country.

A heated debate then took place, which finally ended by the report on address being laid on the table.

Mr. A. C. CAMERON, of Illinois, then rose and moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That by the admission of Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton as a delegate to the National Labor Congress, the Congress has shown its sympathy for the rights of women.

The introduction of this resolution caused quite a breeze in the meeting, and a member moved as a substitute that the country be the voting population consisted in workmen.

The original resolution was then put and carried by a large majority.

The Congress then adjourned until two o'clock.

Afternoon Session.
The Congress resumed its deliberations at two o'clock.

The business reported upon the President's address and the resolution that an independent labor party be immediately organized came up for discussion.

A considerable diversity of opinion prevailed upon these subjects.

Mr. CLAVIS moved that the resolution be amended by providing that the country be the voting population consisted in workmen.

Mr. BOURKE took ground against the introduction of this amendment. It was the view of the country from trades unions that swelled the strength of the movement. He feared that the formation of this new party would be a detriment to the cause.

Mr. CLAVIS explained that the resolution only spoke of the election of representatives to the national and legislative councils.

Mr. PHILIPS, in supporting the formation of the party, said that the country be the voting population consisted in workmen.

Mr. BOURKE took ground against the introduction of this amendment. It was the view of the country from trades unions that swelled the strength of the movement. He feared that the formation of this new party would be a detriment to the cause.

Mr. CLAVIS explained that the resolution only spoke of the election of representatives to the national and legislative councils.

Mr. PHILIPS, in supporting the formation of the party, said that the country be the voting population consisted in workmen.

Mr. BOURKE took ground against the introduction of this amendment. It was the view of the country from trades unions that swelled the strength of the movement. He feared that the formation of this new party would be a detriment to the cause.

Mr. CLAVIS explained that the resolution only spoke of the election of representatives to the national and legislative councils.

Mr. PHILIPS, in supporting the formation of the party, said that the country be the voting population consisted in workmen.

Mr. BOURKE took ground against the introduction of this amendment. It was the view of the country from trades unions that swelled the strength of the movement. He feared that the formation of this new party would be a detriment to the cause.

Mr. CLAVIS explained that the resolution only spoke of the election of representatives to the national and legislative councils.

Mr. PHILIPS, in supporting the formation of the party, said that the country be the voting population consisted in workmen.

Mr. BOURKE took ground against the introduction of this amendment. It was the view of the country from trades unions that swelled the strength of the movement. He feared that the formation of this new party would be a detriment to the cause.

Mr. CLAVIS explained that the resolution only spoke of the election of representatives to the national and legislative councils.

Mr. PHILIPS, in supporting the formation of the party, said that the country be the voting population consisted in workmen.

Mr. BOURKE took ground against the introduction of this amendment. It was the view of the country from trades unions that swelled the strength of the movement. He feared that the formation of this new party would be a detriment to the cause.

Mr. CLAVIS explained that the resolution only spoke of the election of representatives to the national and legislative councils.

Mr. PHILIPS, in supporting the formation of the party, said that the country be the voting population consisted in workmen.

Mr. BOURKE took ground against the introduction of this amendment. It was the view of the country from trades unions that swelled the strength of the movement. He feared that the formation of this new party would be a detriment to the cause.

Mr. CLAVIS explained that the resolution only spoke of the election of representatives to the national and legislative councils.

Mr. PHILIPS, in supporting the formation of the party, said that the country be the voting population consisted in workmen.

Mr. BOURKE took ground against the introduction of this amendment. It was the view of the country from trades unions that swelled the strength of the movement. He feared that the formation of this new party would be a detriment to the cause.

Mr. CLAVIS explained that the resolution only spoke of the election of representatives to the national and legislative councils.

Mr. PHILIPS, in supporting the formation of the party, said that the country be the voting population consisted in workmen.

Mr. BOURKE took ground against the introduction of this amendment. It was the view of the country from trades unions that swelled the strength of the movement. He feared that the formation of this new party would be a detriment to the cause.

Mr. CLAVIS explained that the resolution only spoke of the election of representatives to the national and legislative councils.

Mr. PHILIPS, in supporting the formation of the party, said that the country be the voting population consisted in workmen.

Mr. BOURKE took ground against the introduction of this amendment. It was the view of the country from trades unions that swelled the strength of the movement. He feared that the formation of this new party would be a detriment to the cause.

Mr. CLAVIS explained that the resolution only spoke of the election of representatives to the national and legislative councils.

Mr. PHILIPS, in supporting the formation of the party, said that the country be the voting population consisted in workmen.

Mr. BOURKE took ground against the introduction of this amendment. It was the view of the country from trades unions that swelled the strength of the movement. He feared that the formation of this new party would be a detriment to the cause.

Mr. CLAVIS explained that the resolution only spoke of the election of representatives to the national and legislative councils.

Mr. PHILIPS, in supporting the formation of the party, said that the country be the voting population consisted in workmen.

Mr. BOURKE took ground against the introduction of this amendment. It was the view of the country from trades unions that swelled the strength of the movement. He feared that the formation of this new party would be a detriment to the cause.

Mr. CLAVIS explained that the resolution only spoke of the election of representatives to the national and legislative councils.

Mr. PHILIPS, in supporting the formation of the party, said that the country be the voting population consisted in workmen.

Mr. BOURKE took ground against the introduction of this amendment. It was the view of the country from trades unions that swelled the strength of the movement. He feared that the formation of this new party would be a detriment to the cause.

Mr. CLAVIS explained that the resolution only spoke of the election of representatives to the national and legislative councils.

Mr. PHILIPS, in supporting the formation of the party, said that the country be the voting population consisted in workmen.

Mr. BOURKE took ground against the introduction of this amendment. It was the view of the country from trades unions that swelled the strength of the movement. He feared that the formation of this new party would be a detriment to the cause.

Mr. CLAVIS explained that the resolution only spoke of the election of representatives to the national and legislative councils.

THE WATER STREET REVIVAL.

The Dog Pit Again Crowded—The Great Incorrigible—Brother Allen Expresses His Opinions.

The excitement attending the Water Street revival movement is now centered in the amphitheatre owned by the incorrigible Christopher Burns. The proceedings of yesterday were similar in every respect to those of Tuesday, but the weather was somewhat warmer the atmosphere of the pit was considerably stronger and more unpleasant.

The sinners composed of a congregation were, with few exceptions, eminently respectable in appearance, and it was plainly evident that no higher motive than curiosity had gathered them together.

Great was the disappointment of those who had been laboring under the impression that the unfortunate wretches who haunt or inhabit the vile groggeries and filthy brothels which abound in the neighborhood of Water Street were in the habit of attending these meetings, and much surprise was expressed that the directors and supporters of the revival movement should waste so much time exhibiting themselves in dance houses and dog pits before seriously setting about the good work they profess to have undertaken.

"What you have to do is to get a better class of people," a well-known and highly esteemed merchant prince after witnessing the proceedings of yesterday. "These men pretend they are laboring for the conversion of the poor ignorant sinners of Water Street, but they are not doing anything of the sort. What is the use of their ranting and singing in this place? Instead of doing good, they are doing harm to themselves, what good does that do the poor unfortunate sinners in the neighborhood? The poor sinners are not in the neighborhood, but in the dog pits."

"But these sinners may come in if they like," answered a sleek looking missionary. "Salvation is free."

"Yes," replied the merchant, "but you see they do not like. Doubtless many of them are anxious to be saved, but none of them want to be exhibited like Haddis' men."

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

"What would you have us do then?"

"Go away with all this blasphemous mockery, these dogs and their meeting places to the right seers and sensation seekers, and when sinners come to you take them kindly by the hand and encourage them. You seem to take as much delight in showing them the way to hell as you do in showing them the way to heaven. You are as much of a sinner as the sinners you are exhibiting. It is simply blasphemous to say that you are about my dogs!"

failed to exercise the same prudence, and he says, under medical administration to her at his hands during the last night of her life, she became almost a skeleton, weighing now only ninety-three pounds, while before this time she weighed one hundred and thirty pounds. She died on Monday last, and her husband, Dr. Doremus, of this city, to analyze.

The excitement attending the Water Street revival movement is now centered in the amphitheatre owned by the incorrigible Christopher Burns. The proceedings of yesterday were similar in every respect to those of Tuesday, but the weather was somewhat warmer the atmosphere of the pit was considerably stronger and more unpleasant.

The sinners composed of a congregation were, with few exceptions, eminently respectable in appearance, and it was plainly evident that no higher motive than curiosity had gathered them together.

Great was the disappointment of those who had been laboring under the impression that the unfortunate wretches who haunt or inhabit the vile groggeries and filthy brothels which abound in the neighborhood of Water Street were in the habit of attending these meetings, and much surprise was expressed that the directors and supporters of the revival movement should waste so much time exhibiting themselves in dance houses and dog pits before seriously setting about the good work they profess to have undertaken.

"What you have to do is to get a better class of people," a well-known and highly esteemed merchant prince after witnessing the proceedings of yesterday. "These men pretend they are laboring for the conversion of the poor ignorant sinners of Water Street, but they are not doing anything of the sort. What is the use of their ranting and singing in this place? Instead of doing good, they are doing harm to themselves, what good does that do the poor unfortunate sinners in the neighborhood? The poor sinners are not in the neighborhood, but in the dog pits."

"But these sinners may come in if they like," answered a sleek looking missionary. "Salvation is free."

"Yes," replied the merchant, "but you see they do not like. Doubtless many of them are anxious to be saved, but none of them want to be exhibited like Hadd